1. Claims 1 and 7 to 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support in the specification for "chain" silane compounds having the second, third and fourth formulas as shown in amended claim 1. Page 8 of the specification refers to these formulas as "cyclic", "cyclic" and "basket shaped", respectively.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Nishida et al.

5. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Choi et al.

6. Claims 1 and 7 to 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Sato et al.

7. The teachings in Nishida et al., Choi et al. and Sato et al., and how they apply to the instant claims, was noted in the previous office action. As such this will not be repeated. Applicants have amended claim 1 from a claim drawn to a silane polymer to a claim drawn to a silane polymer prepared by a particular preparation process. As noted in applicants' response, and as agreed to by the Examiner, Nishida et al., Choi et al. and Sato et al. each fail to teach a silane polymer prepared by the method as now claimed (i.e. by applying radiation containing light having a wavelength of 360 to 420 nm to a photopolymerizable silane as claimed).

This amendment to the claims fails to establish novelty and/or unobviousness to the instant claims. That is, while the process by which the claimed product is obtained is not taught, this does not distinguish the claimed product per se from that in the prior art.

Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process. Please note MPEP 2113, which addresses the appropriateness of a rejection under 35 USC 102/103 for product by process claims.

In the instant application, the final claimed product is a silane polymer having an Mw within the range of 800 to 5,000. Each prior art reference teaches a silane polymer having an Mw within the range of 800 to 5,000. There is nothing on the record to establish a difference between the prior art products and that claimed.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
